

Apply for the... Legislative Fellows Program

Background

Begun in 1982, the Legislative Fellows Program links the research capacity of the University of Delaware, Delaware State University, and Wesley College with the research needs of the Delaware General Assembly. For students, who are selected through a competitive process, the experience offers a valuable opportunity to observe and contribute to the governmental decision-making process. Through their nonpartisan, in-depth research, Fellows assist legislators in dealing with critical issues facing the state. In recent years, Fellows have worked on areas as diverse as healthcare policy, education reform, and public safety. Any full-time graduate student or senior-level undergraduate student from the partnering universities is eligible to apply.

Program Highlights

- Legislative Fellows work directly with members of the Delaware General Assembly providing timely, nonpartisan research assistance while gaining a deeper understanding of the legislative process.

- Fellows are paid a competitive hourly rate.

- Fellows take a three-credit seminar, State Government: Management and Policy, as part of the program.
